

The Results Are In: Training Creates Safer, Smarter, and Happier Dogs!

Professional training can transform your dog's behavior and improve their quality of life—and yours. Whether you're a new dog owner or a seasoned pro, here's why training matters:

Behavioral Challenges Are Common

- 34% of dogs experience issues like aggression, fear, or disobedience.
- Behavioral problems are the leading reason for dog relinquishment, with 47% of rehomed dogs surrendered due to these challenges. (Source: ASPCA)

The Costs of NOT Training

- Vet Bills: Behavioral-related injuries or accidents can result in unexpected veterinary bills, with expenses for incidents like dog fights or ingestion of harmful objects often starting at $500 and quickly climbing into the thousands!
- Liability: Dog bite claims average $50,425 in the U.S. (Source: Insurance Information Institute)
- Destruction Costs: Chewed furniture and other damages can quickly add up!

Training Makes Dogs Safer

- Dogs trained in basic commands are 4x less likely to experience accidents, like running into traffic or eating toxic substances.
- Positive reinforcement training reduces stress and promotes well-being, as shown by lower cortisol levels. (Source: NIH)

Stronger Bonds with Training

- Training fosters trust and understanding, strengthening bonds between people and dogs.
- Professionally supported dogs are 50% more likely to remain in their adoptive homes. (Source: ASPCA)

Even Experienced Owners Can Benefit

- 64% of experienced owners underestimate the complexity of training a new dog. (Source: AKC)
- Behavioral changes often develop between ages 1–3, requiring ongoing guidance.
